MR. THOMAS IS A TRIAL ATTORNEY and trained problem solver who draws on a broad base of experience to craft unique solutions for his clients. After earning a long list of honors during college and law school—all at the University of Texas—he gained invaluable experience and exposure as a law clerk to a federal judge in Dallas. Mr. Thomas then spent seven years honing his litigation skills at Vinson & Elkins, LLP, one of the largest international law firms in Texas. Through these experiences, Mr. Thomas has learned how to solve complicated problems in an efficient, client-centered manner. He relishes building rapport with his clients and helping them analyze legal strategy and risks. Mr. Thomas is always prepared to boldly pursue his clients' cause all of the way through trial.

EXPERIENCE

FEDERAL COURT LITIGATION

Mr. Thomas has extensive litigation experience in federal district courts and bankruptcy courts throughout the United States and frequently serves as local counsel for matters pending in Dallas. He recently completed service as the President of the Dallas Chapter of the Federal Bar Association, and continues to serve on the Northern District of Texas's Bench Bar Committee. He began his legal career as a law clerk in the chambers of United States District Judge Jane J. Boyle, where he learned the ins and outs of local practice. Examples of Mr. Thomas' work in local federal courts includes:

- » (N.D. Tex.) – Represented an oil and gas company in securities fraud litigation brought by liquidating trustee of gas exploration companies

- » (Bankr. S.D. Tex.) – Advised private equity firm in connection with pre-packaged chapter 11 filing of GOM E&P subsidiary

RECEIVERSHIPS

Drawing on his experience in federal courts, Mr. Thomas also serves as a court-appointed federal equity receiver in actions brought by regulatory bodies. Mr. Thomas currently serves as the receiver in SEC v. Gallagher Financial Group, et al., No. 3:19-cv-575-C, in the Northern District of Texas. If you are an investor, please access the Receivership's home page here.

OTHER COMMERCIAL LITIGATION

Mr. Thomas also has extensive experience litigating disputes in state courts throughout Texas and before administrative tribunals, including the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT) and Office of Financial Institution Adjudication (OFIA). He has handled a wide array of energy-related cases, ranging from disputes over oil and gas joint operating agreements, to gas service agreements, to CCN proceedings surrounding the construction of an electric transmission line. He has also defended bank executives against their removal from banking, represented large private equity funds and fund-backed subsidiaries in contract disputes, and helped landlords deal with difficult tenants. Examples of Mr. Thomas' other commercial litigation experience includes:

- » (Tex. Cnty. Courts) – Represented both property owners and utilities in eminent domain proceedings related to electric transmission lines and state highway takings
- » (PUCT) – Represented electric utility in various disputes before the Public Utility Commission of Texas, the State Office of Administrative Hearings, the Austin Court of Appeals, and various other Texas state courts

- » Represented a publicly traded asset management company in various disputes with former employees and other claimants in Texas and Kansas

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

While Mr. Thomas enjoys defending his clients in traditional court proceedings, he understands that the best, most cost-effective solution might be something other than traditional litigation. He has represented clients in multiple private arbitrations, including special expedited arbitrations aimed at minimizing costs for all parties involved. Mr. Thomas has advised clients through multiple successful mediations, with some even taking place before any discovery had occurred.

- » (Arbitration) – Represented private equity firm in AAA arbitration involving corporate tax dispute involving purchase and sale agreement
- » (Arbitration) – Represented various midstream and E&P companies in arbitrations involving purchase and sale agreements and indemnity claims

MEDIATOR

Mr. Thomas also serves as a mediator and has mediated a variety of commercial disputes, including cases involving construction defects, landlord-tenant disputes, DTPA claims, wrongful foreclosures, wrongful repossessions, breaches of contract, and attorney-client disputes. In addition to mediating for a fee, Cort provides pro bono mediation services through the Dallas County Dispute Resolution Center.

OUTSIDE GENERAL COUNSEL

Mr. Thomas comes from a family of entrepreneurs and uniquely understands the demands on small and medium-sized business owners, having worked in a family business for several years before attending law school. Mr. Thomas now uses that insight to help guide businesses through their everyday legal challenges. In addition to litigation analysis, he regularly assists clients with issues surrounding contract negotiation and drafting, asset protection, corporate structure and governance, real estate transactions (including purchases, sales, and leases), and employment counseling.
